

Cabin Collins Cocktail

Source: Weller's 'Let's Have a Patio Luau' Advertising Booklet, 1961

Yield: Serves 1

Recipe Description

Featured in Weller's Let's Have a Patio Luau advertising booklet from 1961, the Cabin Collins is a bourbon-based take on the Tom Collins. With the fresh juice of lime and lemon, a dash of sugar, and a fizzy finish of club soda, this cocktail evokes mid-century backyard parties and warm weather cheer. Part of the Retro Recipes Revived collection.

Ingredients

- 1 heaping teaspoon of extra fine granulated sugar
- Juice of ½ lime
- Juice of ½ lemon
- Ice cubes
- 1 jigger (1.5 oz) Weller's Cabin Still Bourbon
- Club soda to fill

Directions

1. In a 12 oz. glass, dissolve sugar in the fresh juice of ½ lime and ½ lemon.
2. Add ice cubes.
3. Pour in 1 jigger of Weller's Cabin Still Bourbon.
4. Fill glass with club soda and stir gently.
5. Serve immediately with a straw or citrus garnish, if desired.

Notes

For a sweeter twist, garnish with a cherry or add a splash of pineapple juice for extra patio flair.

Inveniam viam aut faciam.

Retro Recipes Revived © — Life in Bianca's Kitchen